JUDGE CRAIG TO BE TRIED IN PROBATE

COMPLAINT WAS FILED HE IS OF UNSOUND MIND

HEARING SET FOR NOV. 8

One of the Most Unusual Cases on Record—Had Been a Patient for Nearly 17 Years

A hearing will be held in probate court next Wednesday before a jury as a complaint has been filed that Judge Gallatin Craig is a person of unsound mind and incapable of managing his own affairs. The complaint is signed by Judge Craig's brother, Virginius T. Craig of Ghent, Ky., R. B. Gex, Sr., of near Graham and C. H. Coe of Maryville who are relatives of Judge Craig. The complaint was filed today and the hearing was set by Judge Jesse Robertson for next Wednesday.

Judge Craig who has been in Gheat, Ky., for the past few months returned here last Sunday accompanied by his brother from that place. Judge Craig is in failing health.

Probably there is no case on record similar to that of Judge Craig. After serving as circuit judge of this circuit having been elected in 1898, Judge Craig's health commenced to fail along about 1902 and he was taken as a patient to the State Hospital at Nevada, Mo., where he was confined for nearly seventeen years. About 1920 Judge Craig was released from Nevada as it was thought he was showing marked improvement but it was found necessary several months afterwards to send him to a sanitarium at Macon. Judge Craig obtained his release from the Macon institution on the grounds the proceedings in the Nodaway County probate court had not received sufficient notice. This was about a year ago. Since that time Judge Craig filed a suit for admages against the Macon sanitarium and also had his property which was in the name of a guardian back to his name by proceedings in circuit court.

Judge Craig argued his case at Macon when his case was up before Judge Drain. His mind seems to be perfectly clear on law points. Judge Craig is 67 years old.

In the complaint filed, a request is made to have a guardian appointed to look after the person and estate of the said Craig and order his restraint and safe keeping.

EDWARD W. GRAY TALKS TO COLLEGE COMMERCIAL CLUB

Club Decides to Meet Every Week—Interesting Meeting Last Night at College.

At a meeting of the Commerce Club at the State Teachers College last night in the Commerce rooms at the College Edward W. Gray gave a very interesting and helpful talk on insurance. In his talk Mr. Gray gave a short history of insurance dating from the first policy ever written in 1583, when a policy for one year cost four times the premium of a 20-year endowment policy of the present time. He also explained the American Experience Mortality Table and gave a short summary of the various kinds of insurance and their benefits or objects.

Mr. Gray said, "Men buy insurance for four reasons, namely: As a business proposition, protection of the loved ones, saving for the old age and as a debt to society."

After the meeting the Club adjourned to Pennington's Cafe, where a lunch was held. At this time it was voted for the Club to meet every Wednesday night, instead of twice a month.

WRITES ABOUT THE BUDGET PLAN

WILL HAVE HARD SLEDDING GETTING INTO FINAL DRAFT.

THE STATES FINANCES

Delegate M. E. Ford Tells Necessity of State Having Budget Like Big Business.

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 31.—To The Democrat-Forum.

Some days ago I started to write about the budget plan that had been proposed by the Executive Committee and which it was hoped would enable the people to get some idea of how much money was being spent and for what it was being spent. I deferred writing the letter because this proposition came up for discussion again and it looked as if it was going to be defeated. After a rather prolonged and somewhat bitter fight it was finally adopted and is out of the way for the present. But it is not out of the woods and will have hard sledding getting into the final draft.

About The States Finance

It has often been said that what is everybody's business is nobody's business and this is true to a very large extent. It is everybody's business to know how much money the State is spending, what it is being spent for and whether the expenditure is really necessary. But being everybody's business is really nobody's business and in reality no one knows much about it. As the system is now worked every body who wants an appriation runs to the Legislature when it assembles, loffers, button holes, log rolls, uses every scheme imaginable to get the Legislature to appropriate money. That body appropriates money without stint and then begins to devise new taxes to raise the money already appropriated and the people have about the heavy taxes and that ends the matter.

Every foreign country and every large private business in this country has long since adopted a budget plan. All the budget plan means is this first find out how much money you are going to have to spend and then determine where and how you are going to spend it.

Budget Plans Submitted

Three different budget plans were submitted to the Committee on Executive and Ministerial Departments. Mr. Meador, being chairman, his plan was given preference and on the whole is very good. Mr. Meador is a newspaper man from Cassville and has given a great deal of study to the subject.

The plan provides that within fifteen days after the meeting of the General Assembly the Governor shall submit a budget. Inthis budget he is required to sit and just how much money he expects the state to spend in the next two years and also must itemize the expenditures proposed. The Governor is also required to state how much money is in the treasury and what the income is expected to be. Thus the people and the General Assembly will know just how much money the state is going to have how much it is going to spend and what it is going to spend it for.

He is also required to introduce an appropriation bill or appropriating the money for the purposes set forth in the budget. Governor must not only submit his own budget but also the one of two years previous in a form suitable for comparison. If this plan is adopted the Governor will have to say just how much money is needed to run the state and how much was required for the two years previous. He must do this at the time he asks for the money.

The theory of the budget plan is that the Executive Department is the one that has charge of all of the States Institutions, and which controls an ddirects its activities; in other words, it is the department that spends the State's money. The Legislature acts for the people and supplies the money. Therefore before the people note the money they demand to know just how much is wanted and for what it is to be used

But this is not all. The Legislature is then denied the right to appropriate more than is called for in the budget. They can reduce the amount but they can not increase it. It may be asked just why there was so much opposition to a scheme so necessary and advisable. The secret is that men who have large influence,

FAIR CROWD HEARS CLEVELAND SPEAK

RAIN HINDERS DELEGATIONS FROM OTHER CHURCHES.

EIGHTY ATTEND SUPPER

Speaker at Presbyterian Church Talks on India Last Night—An Illustrated Lecture.

Eighty persons were present at the Presbyterian Church last evening for the basket supper, and by the time of the address of the evening the number was over a hundred. The rain kept many away who had signed up to come. The delegations from other Presbyterian churches were largely hindered from coming. In spite of all handicaps the evening proved a very successful inauguration of the program of mission study planned for the Presbyterian church between now and Christmas.

Dr. Cleveland began his address by outlining the work that is being done this year in mission study. The subject was India.

"This country," he said, "is one of the most popular of recent countries studied. One reason is that there has been so much about India in the newspapers and magazines.

"The adult book is 'Building with India.' 'Lighted to Lighten' is the book for young women, and will be studied by the Westminster Guild. For the young folks of high school the book is "India on the March." The boys' and girls' book is "The Wonderland of India." Dr. Cleveland had copies of these books and spoke briefly on them. Some are already on hand, and others are ordered.

The illustrated lecture on India proved very interesting to the audience. The great variety of beliefs in India were presented by slides. Religious, educational, industrial and social problems, of which the caste system is one of the greatest were discussed.

Hopkins church was represented by Fred Yeomans, Mr. Williams and John Aiken. Wm. Richardson was present as the representation of the Maitland church. Others of the delegations were kept away by the bad roads.

The serving was done by the high school girls and other of the young people of the church. Mrs. Sam McClurg and Mrs. J. F. Colby had charge of the supper. One of the most enjoyable features was the singing lead by the music director of the church, Luther A. Richman. After the supper and address a large number attended choir rehearsal.

THE OCTOBER WEATHER RECORD ABOVE NORMAL

Temperature Four and One-Half Degrees Above Normal and Excessive Sunshine.

With the temperature four and one-half degrees above normal, rainfall about normal, remarkably light winds and an excessive amount of sunshine, October left us one of the best weather records of any month we have had for some time.

According to Weather Observer Brink the mean temperature for the month was 57.7 degrees. The normal mean temperature for the month for the past twenty-seven years is 53.2 degrees.

The highest temperature for the month was 86 degrees on the 6th and the lowest was 26 degrees on the 17th. The highest on record for this month was on October 14, 1897, when it registered 94 degrees. The lowest was on October 30, 1917, when it was 12 degrees.

In precipitation October this year was about normal. Figures give it as 2.46 inches compared to a normal mean of 2.83 inches for the twenty-seven years. The highest precipitation on record was in October, 1911, when it rained 7.47 inches and the lowest in 1895, when it totaled only .01 of an inch.

Mr. Brink said the records showed that on October 17, 1898 a snow of 12 inches fell and remained on the ground until April. Quite a contrast to this year.

The weather prediction today is fair and cooler, with unsettled weather, but the indications this afternoon point to more such weather as October.

Andy Sims of Grant City, who has been visiting at the home of his brother-in-law, Jack Pennington, left this morning for his home. Mrs. Sims will remain here for a longer visit.

MEANINGLESS CHATTER

(St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

Both Senator Reed and Mr. Brewster have poured out rivers of talk about prohibition; they have accused each other of being dry in the country and wet in the city; they have accused each other of dodging and deception; they have talked about changing the alcoholic content, but strictly within the limit of nonintoxication, which suggests scentless perfume and tasteless candy. Who cares about the alcoholic percentage of nonintoxicating beverages?

They have talked about modification of the Volstead act with regard to search and seizure, which has no more relation to prohibition than the question of methods of procedure under any law.

Neither Senator Reed nor Mr. Brewster has answered the one important question:

Are you in principle for or against prohibition?

Both have professed to be bound by the eighteenth amendment, but neither has said whether or not he would vote for its repeal.

WEATHER PROPHETS

The weather is considered by society folks to be about the very lowest limit of conversation. The man who can think of nothing to say except some seemingly flat and commonplace remark about the weather is considered zero as a talker.

Nevertheless, the weather is one of the most vital influences affecting community life. If it is favorable, the crops flourish, food prices become reasonable and human welfare is advanced. But if droughts prevail or if there is an oversupply of moisture, then crops fall off, prices are high and business suffers.

People who live in the country are specially interested in the weather, and their minds are freer from distractions. The heavens above them are a kind of screen drama, in which the contending forces of the air are forever playing their game.

The weatherwise man watches the conflict of sunshine and storm with fascinated interest. It is a kind of game of solitaire, and he pits his past observation against the uncertainties of a changeful climate, and wins if he guesses right.

The people who talk about the weather may seem dull and commonplace. But they may have at least acquired a habit of observation and reflection. They take a vast body of phenomena, and classify it in their own minds, watch the sequence of storm and sunshine, and form conclusions as to what results follow certain conditions and appearances. Thus the skies are a kind of book in which many unlearned men have read. From them they gain not merely skill in forecasting weather charges, but they acquire a touch of scientific and investigating spirit. Good weather observers though often uneducated, are apt to be common sense folks who watch closely the life about them and form somewhat wise conclusions.

Campaigning Against Vivisection

The children of California are up in arms against the movement to subject all dogs to vivisection, which is planned as a state law and proposed as an amendment up for decision at the coming elections. The children oppose the law, and have arranged a strenuous campaign urging their elders who vote to cast their vote against acceptance of the law. Placards decorate the family pets, and outside of school hours the youngsters are not slow to let the voters know how they feel about it. Here are some of the young campaigners and their pets.

TRY IT ON YOURSELF

Henry Louis Adams has recently written an article entitled, "Turned Loose on Main Street." In attempting to remedy the many failures in first and second year college students, Adams suggested a common sense "entrance examination," with several questions to be answered by the entering student. We heartily agree with Adam's suggested questions but would like to add that the thoughts contained therein would be fine "entrance exam," for young men entering the business world. We know a lot of men that have been in the "game" for years that could profit immensely if they would stop and check up themselves by these same questions.

Here are some of the questions: Are you man enough to get up promptly every morning, get to your meals and to school on time every day, and go to bed at a fixed hour every night, all of your own initiative, without a word of reminder from anybody?

Are you man enough to go off by yourself every day and study all your lessons till you know them without having anyone tell you to get to work?

Are you man enough to carry loose change in your pocket without spending it?

Are you man enough, when another fellow's answer is in easy reach, to fail on examination rather than obtain unlawful aid?

If you cannot pass this examination, remember that for the weak-willed, short-sighted and dishonest the college graveyard is yawning and never full. If you can pass it, rejoice that from Main Street of college life all roads of success are wide open to the self-controlled and energetic.

Why Be Poor?

By Henry Ford In the Journal of Education.

The cure of poverty is not in personal economy, but in better production. The "thrift" and "economy" ideas have been overworked. The word "economy" represents a fear. The great and tragic fact of waste is impressed on a mind by some circumstance, usually of a most materialistic kind. There comes a violent reaction against extravagance—the mind catches hold of the idea of "economy." But it only flies from a greater to a lesser evil; it does not make the full journey from error to truth.

Economy is the rule of half-alive minds. There can be no doubt that it is better than waste, neither can there be any doubt that it is not as good as use. People who pride themselves on their economy take it as a virtue. But what is more pitiable than a poor, pinched mind spending the rich days and years clutching a few bits of metal? What can be fine about paring the necessities of life to the very quick? We all know "economical people" who seem to be niggardly even about the amount of air they breath and the amount of appreciation they will allow themselves to give anything. They shrivel—body and soul. Economy is waste; it is waste of the juices of life, the sap of living. For there are two kinds of waste—that of the prodigal who throws his substance away in riotous living, and that of the sluggard who allows his substance to rot from non use.

We teach children to save their money. As an attempt to counteract thoughtless and selfish expenditure, that has a value. But it is not positive; it does not lead the child out into the safe and useful avenues of self-expression or self-expenditure. To teach a child to invest and use is better than to teach him to save. Most men who are laboriously saving a few dollars would do better to invest those few dollars—first in themselves, and then in some useful work. Eventually they would have more to save. Young men ought to invest rather than save. They ought to invest in themselves to increase creative value; after they have taken themselves to the peak of usefulness—then will be time enough to think of laying aside, as a fixed policy, a certain substantial share of income. You are not "saving" when you prevent yourself from becoming more productive. You are really taking away from your ultimate capital; you are reducing the value of one of nature's investments. The principle of use is the true guide. Use is positive, active, life-giving. Use is alive. Use adds to the sum of good.

SHIFTING POPULATION

The rapid changes in population are a notable feature of many cities nowadays. People move away from a community where they have lived a considerable time and feel badly about parting with their friends. Then if they come back two or three years later they may find so many removals of people whose intimacy they valued, that they do not feel at home any more.

Some sections and cities are much more conservative about changes than others. In some towns families will remain for many years and occasionally for their whole lives. But even in such places, the changing population is much larger than it used to be.

The tendency of the times is to set people adrift from their old homes. Formerly young folks attended schools in their own neighborhood, and were not generally incited to settle elsewhere. Now a multitude of them go far away to schools and colleges where they meet others from all over the country, and they lose the old locality and home feeling. They look for the best opportunity, regardless of whether it is near their homes or not.

Many young people get a roving habit and if they do not advance in one job within a short time, will quit it and go elsewhere. Of course people often need to try various opportunities before they find the right one, but, when they make a change they abandon the benefits of whatever reputation and experience they have acquired in the old place.

This changeability has some benefits. It creates a bright and alert population that does not easily get into ruts. Yet it makes it difficult to develop good civic spirit, as people who stay only a short time in a place do not get much interested in it. But with the modern tendency urging people to own their own homes and take more part in the organized life of their community, perhaps the coming generation may not be as restless as the one now on the stage.

Former Governor Lowden, of Illinois says there are too many political employees. He is correct. The political plum tree needs pruning in Illinois and Missouri too.

"Mother Why Not Try The Newer Form Of Iron

And Be Strong and Well and Have Nice Rosy Cheeks Instead of Being Nervous and Irritable all the Time and Looking So Haggard and Old?"

"The doctor gave some to Susie Smith's mother and she was worse off than you are and now she looks just fine." There can be no healthy, beautiful rosy-cheeked women without iron. Good physicians have strongly emphasized the fact that doctors should prescribe more of the newer form of iron—Nuxated Iron—for their nervous, run-down, weak, haggard-looking patients. When the iron goes from the blood of women the roses go from their cheeks, and strength and vitality from their bodies. This newer form of iron, like the iron in your blood and like the iron in certain green vegetables, is highly recommended to thousands who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance. It is surprising how many people suffer from iron deficiency and do not know it. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you the proper amount of good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale, and sickly-looking, just like a plant trying to grow in soil deficient in iron.

You can tell the women with plenty of iron in their blood—beautiful, healthy, rosy-cheeked women, full of life, vim and vitality. You can get Nuxated Iron from any druggist under an absolute guarantee that it will do the same for you or your money back.

For sale in this city by Gaugh & Evans and all other druggists.

THE COUNTY UNIT BILL

(By B. Eickholt).

This law would place all the rural schools in the county under the control of one board of directors, who would see to the building of the necessary buildings. The law in question is not very plain on this point. We, the people, might have something to say about these buildings, and again we might not. Mr. Cooper does not think that we will need very many additional school buildings as many of the present ones might do. Mr. Cooper also gives figures as to cost per child and the country folks are doing better than the towns as far as the cost per child is concerned. However, today I see an article in the paper saying that as far as wealth is concerned, that the country folks are not paying as much as the towns.

The writer of the fourth article prepared by the State Teachers College, referred to the box car type of country school. Well, I will admit that he is right. Some of the country schools do look tough. But say, these box car schools sure are crammed full of the fundamentals of education. When the Federal government during the late war wanted a man to put through the selective draft, it chose General Enoch Crowder of Missouri for this job, who had received the fundamentals of his education in one of these schools. And General Pershing is also one of the boys that went to one of those schools. The quekstion is not better or poorer schools, we all want them a little better; the question is, who is going to control the rural schools? Let me give you an example: Maybe many of you cannot understand why I am so opposed to this bill.

Suppose that in the coming election we were to vote on a law putting all the high schools of the county under one board of directors. This board to classify the teachers, fix the teachers' wages, tell the local boards what to do, what teachers they could hire, all this because it would be good business. What would the people of these high school districts say and do? Well, then voters of the towns you do for us, what you would like for us to do for you.

I have had quite a number of those who are in favor of this bill, try to put me right, but no two of them have the same idea as to what this proposed law would do and what it might do.

The Fascisti In Italy; Their Organization And Program

There has been much speculation about the Fascisti organization which has just come into control of the Italian government. Little is known of the organization in this country other than it stands for one hundred percent nationalism. But unlike the Ku Klux Klan it works in the open and its constitution is known and its members wear uniforms to identify them.

The Christian Science Monitor has published the following constructive program of the Fascisti:

The idea is current in some quarters that the Movimento Nazionale Fascista" has a reactionary character, and that it is merely destructive. This mistaken view is easily understandable, given the unfortunate incidents which have occurred during the last two years. The responsibility for these cannot in justice be attributed to the Fascisti alone who, rightly or wrongly, sometimes with not altogether wise means, tried, and I believe, have succeeded in preventing Italy from falling a victim to a Communist regime, which, in view of the nature of the country, would have proved disastrous.

It was hardly to be expected that men of all classes who had fought for Italy in the trenches should meekly stand still and allow a small proportion of well-paid agitators, who in no way represent the country, to ruin it economically and morally for their own selfish ends. Fortunately, there is every reason to believe that Fascism has now entered upon a new and constructive phase. The following, therefore, is a brief outline of the theories underlying the policy of what is becoming one of the most important national parties in Italy:

1. The nation is not the aggregate of separate individuals but the synthesis of all the values of the race.

2. The state is the juridic incarnation of the nation. Political institutions are valid only in so far as national values many find in them expression and protection. The state therefore should be reduced to its essential functions, whether political or juridic. The sovereignty of the state in the sense used above can not and must not be curtailed by the church, to whom the widest liberty in the exercise of its mission should be guaranteed.

Nation Put First of All

3. Fascism to subordinates its attitude toward separate political activities to the moral interests of the nation, understood as a living organism.

The policy of Fascism toward Syndicalism is especially interesting. It is best summed up in the five points laid down by Michele Bianchi, general secretary of the Partito Fascista, at the Convegno Sindacale of Bologna, which Signor Preziosi quotes in his interesting article in a recent number of the Giornale d'Italia:

(a) Labor constitutes the sovereign title which justifies the full and useful citizenship of man in the life of society.

(b) Labor is the result of the harmonious effort made to create, perfect and increase all that constitutes the well-being of man.

(c) Workers are to be considered all those who, without distinction, use their activity to the ends stated above. Their syndicalist organization must propose, therefore, to accept them—having regard to necessary subdivisions and variety of grouping—without ostracism of a demagogic character.

(d) The nation is above individuals, categories and classes. Individuals, categories and classes are the instruments which the nation uses in order to attain her highest development. The interests of these (individuals, categories, classes) acquire their title to legitimate recognition in so far as they are kept within the superior interests of the nation.

Country Is Beyond Class

(e) Syndicalist organization, that is Labor's weapon of offense and defense against all forms of parasitism, must tend to develop in the person so organized the sense that the syndicalist activity is consciously a part of the complicated network of social relations, and it should also publish the fact that beyond class there exists also country and society.

With regard to the Government, Fascism holds the theory that this should act as administrator in the interest of the nation as a whole and not of parties or of sections of the community, and should oppose, therefore, any power which might attempt to exercise undue control. The liberty of the individual citizen accordingly is limited by the rights of his equals on the one hand and by the sovereign right of the nation to live and develop itself on the other.

The economic program of Fascism is no less precise. It demands a readjustment of the budget, the simplification of the present bureaucratic system, the rigid and careful administration of the moneys derived from taxation, and a radical modification of the present tributary system according to a fairer standard of distribution. The state must recognize the social function of private property which constitutes both a duty and a right. The Partito Nazionale Fascista has acted and will act in such a way that the struggle between class interests shall be properly disciplined, i. e., by recognizing juridically workers' and owners' organizations. It will take steps to insure the prevention of strikes in public services by instituting arbitration courts composed of representatives of the workers or employees and of the public which employs them.

Would Raise Level of Education

With regard to education, Fascism will aim at spreading and raising the level of education, as far as may be possible in all classes, by extending compulsory instruction, and rendering the intermediate and university independent save for state control over the curriculum. Only by a good system of education will it be possible for the state to obtain a competent body of rulers. Military service is obligatory for all and should aim at producing a nazione armata.

Fascism demands that Italy should affirm her right to her complete historic and geographical unity even where she has not yet reached it. Her function should be that of a bulwark of Latin civilization in the Mediterranean. It does not believe, on the whole, in the vitality of the ideals which inspire the League of Nations, and still less in any form of "International."

Such, roughly, is the program of the Partito Nazionale Fascista. It remains to be seen how far it will be able to carry it out. That will be the only fair basis upon which ultimately to judge it.

BREED FOR EARLY LITTERS

The farmer who is raising market hogs will find it highly profitable to breed for early litters, says P. M. Bernard of the Missouri College of Agriculture. Even the March gilts may very profitably be bred for March litters.

An investigation now in its eleventh year at the Missouri Experiment Station has brought out the following facts with reference to the early breeding of sows:

The growth of the sow will be prolonged one to two years.

The ultimate size of the sow will be just as large as if bred later.

The pigs will reach a marketable age only five to ten days older than from sows bred when more mature.

Size of litters will not be affected.

Feed consumed by pigs will not be greater.

Cost per pig at weaning will not be greater.

A quicker turn-over may be obtained an money invested in brood sows.

These young people called the deputy clerk, Mrs. Myrtle Nies, to the courthouse at 9 o'clock Wednesday night, who issued the license to them. They then went to the Methodist parsonage and were united in marriage by Rev. Bishop, pastor of the First Methodist church at 10 o'clock.

Resolution

Whereas, the Heavenly Father has removed from active life here, our beloved sister and co-worker, Mrs. F. A. Yeo,

Be It Resolved: That while we bow in submission to His will, who doeth all things well we shall miss in our beloved work of the Women's Christian Temperance Union the faithful work, the hopeful inspiration of her presence, and the many kindnesses she performed through her department of Flower Mission and Relief Work, and we extend to the family our heartfelt sympathy in their great loss, and commend them to the God in whom she trusted.

Mrs. Wolcott,
Mrs. R. L. McDougal,
Mrs. C. A. McCoppin.

Mrs. Yeo was a member of the W. C. T. U. in Kansas over thirty years ago, and was active in the fight against the legalized saloon and afterward the blind-pig and boot-legging industry there. She was President of Clay Center W. C. T. U. for a number of years, and later was President of the Maryville W. C. T. U. for a time. For two years she was Superintendent of Flower Mission work here in Maryville, and her report at the last Convention shows the energy she put into her work at the age of seventy-nine years.

SHIFT FORMATION USED BY CENTRE MADE CLEAR

Lock-Step Play Which Worked So Successfully Against Harvard Is Explained

Several Maryville sport fans have inquired just what kind of a peculiar shift formation it was that Centre College used so successfully against Harvard in their game earlier this season. It seems that no one in Maryville has been able to answer the question but now a clipping from the Kansas City Times explains the shift perfectly. It follows:

First, the Colonels lined up in the regular manner. Then all seven linesmen straightened up, right-faced and marched into lockstep to the right. When the left end had moved far enough to be even with the ball, he bent down and held it for a moment. Then the Danville boys marched right back again. They lockstepped to the left until the right end was on the ball. The other linesmen then formed a scrimmage line about a foot or six inches behind the ball, with the rightend bending sideways over the pigskin. The backs, who had marched back and forth in perfect step, assumed either a tandem or box formation and the end, passing under his arm instead of between his legs, shot the ball rearward to the halfback on the nearest rear corner of the box. With six linesmen and three interfering backs ahead of him, the carrier was shielded by a wall of humanity.

I TOOK THE GOATS WALKING EVERY DAY SAYS OHIO, WOMAN

Akron, O., Oct. 31.—"I took the goats walking every day, and they jumped and hopped with delight and climbed the trees for the fruit."

Thus Mrs. Anne Cherryholm sought to defend her landlord from charges of abusing and neglecting his livestock.

Eli Breitenstein, sixty-four, was the defendant, owner of hogs, sheep and two goats. He was accused of not feeding them. The sheep had not been sheared for years, and their wool was full of ticks and lice.

Breitenstein was found guilty and will appeal the case.

It is said the bootleggers society is considering the adoption of the Russian boot as a part of its uniform. It is estimated that about four bottles could be carried in the surplus space around some of our society girls.

A local paper says, "More than sixty per cent of the population of Glasgow is housed in fewer than two rooms." Those two rooms must certainly be crowded.

The Election of U. S. Senator and the Hyde Administration

THE Democratic State Committee in an eleventh-hour stricture is endeavoring to divert the minds of the voters of this state from the issues that are drawn between James A. Reed and R. R. Brewster in their contest for the office of United States Senator by publishing in the country newspapers a broadside of misrepresentation concerning the administration of Governor Arthur M. Hyde.

Will it make Jim Reed any less wet to say that the Hyde Administration increased taxes?

Will it make Jim Reed's un-American conduct during the World War any less un-American to charge that the Hyde Administration passed redistricting bills that met with the violent disapproval of the old office-holding Democratic gang in this state?.

Will it make Jim Reed's merciless persecution of Woodrow Wilson any less reprehensible to charge that the Hyde Administration adopted a number of consolidation bills which provided that the Governor should name the heads of the consolidated departments?

Will it make Jim Reed clean and patriotic and representative of the ideals and aspirations of the good people of Missouri to charge that the Hyde Administration is generally inefficient, wasteful and extravagant?

Keep the Dust Out of Your Eyes! The Issue is Clear! Jim Reed is running for the office of United States Senator on the Democratic ticket. His nomination on that ticket was secured by the votes of wet Republicans in St. Louis and the only hope the Reed boosters have of electing him is through the help of these same wet Republicans in St. Louis. The election of Jim Reed would be the heaviest blow that could be struck at Prohibition in the United States.

Opposed to Jim Reed is R. R. Brewster–"as dry as the Eighteenth Amendment"–clean, capable, manly. Brewster deserves your support because he represents the best thought and the highest purposes of the good people of this state. But it is more important that Jim Reed should be defeated than it is that R. R. Brewster should be elected, because the election of a sinister individual–a "marplot," as Woodrow Wilson so happily characterized him–would be a blow at one of the most important laws ever placed in the fundamental structure of this nation and would be a notice to the world that Missouri wants to go back to booze.

WHAT ABOUT THE HYDE ADMINISTRATION?

Not that it makes any difference in the contest for the office of United States Senator, but because the slander published by the Democratic State Committee should not go unchallenged.

THE REDISTRICTING MEASURES

The last legislature passed Senatorial, Judicial and Congressional redistricting bills—all of which have been held up by Democratic office-holders through the misuse of the Referendum. No citizen of Missouri who has studied the redistricting bills that passed the last legislature can truthfully say that they are not more nearly in accord with the requirements of law in every respect than are those they were designed to displace.

Let's see what the figures are. This state has been close politically for years and yet it has been a rare exception when there has been more than two Republican Congressmen elected, and it has often been said that this state would have to go 50,000 Republican before that party could elect a majority of the state senate. In 1920 it went over 150,000 Republican and the Republicans controlled the state senate by a bare majority of three. That is abounding evidence of the unfair senatorial and congressional districts as they have existed.

Let's go farther. The average size of the Congressional districts should have been 212,000 in population. Yet they range from 142,000 to 416,000. The 10th District in St. Louis was made in order to attempt to bring within its confines all the Republican vote in Missouri. Under the Democratic gerrymander there was a difference of 274,000 population between the size of the smallest and the largest district.

Under the re-districting bill proposed by the Republicans the average population is the same (212,000), and the districts range in population from 189,000 to 232,000.

Under the old Democratic gerrymander the average size of a senatorial district was 100,000 population. They ranged in population from 55,000 to 142,000, or a range of 87,000 between the largest and smallest district. Under the redistricting they range in population from 93,000 to 120,000. One need only to consult the map of this state congressionally and senatorially and trace the outlines of the districts, old and new, to determine which party is fair and which party is unfair.

At the beginning of the Republican administration, what was found with reference to judicial circuits? Omitting the cities of the state (St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph) some of the judicial districts comprised only two counties and others three and four, and the records show that in some circuits, court was not held to exceed two months in a year and in many less than six months, and they ranged in population from 33,000 to 96,000.

For instance, the 13th district, comprising Pettis County, had a population of 34,000, while the 14th District, comprising six counties, had a population of 96,000. In three other districts (No.'s 33, 37 and 38), comprising two counties each, had a population of approximately 34,000 to the district. Another district with a population of 64,000 had two judges. Another district comprising only two counties had a total population of less than 60,000 and had two judges. Another circuit with only two counties and a total population of 55,000 had two judges. Another with three counties and a total population of 62,000 had two judges. Another circuit with three counties and a total population of 65,000 had two judges. It should be observed that in these small districts where two judges are employed the majority is heavily Democratic, proving what even the Democrats themselves admit, that the districts were made to take care of "deserving Democrats."

The legislature made an earnest effort to fulfill their pledges to the people in a reduction of expenses and framed a judicial redistricting bill that made every judicial circuit as nearly as possible equal in population. They abolished the court of common pleas in a small rural town, reduced the number of circuits from 38 to 34, at a saving to the state of approximately $50,000 per annum. This is the judicial redistricting bill that was held up by the Democratic office holders of the state.

EQUALIZATION OF TAXES

The Democratic State Committee complains that the Hyde Administration increased the taxes on farm lands out of proportion to the increases made on other classes of property. Now, the facts are that the assessed valuation of farm lands in such Democratic counties as Saline, Audrian, Lafayette and others was so outrageously low that a fair equalization did make the increase show very large. Saline county is one of the best agricultural counties in the state. Previous to the Hyde Administration the farm land of that county was assessed at $22.04 an acre; this was increased to $79.40 an acre and naturally the per centage of increase is very large, but who will say that the land owners of Saline county were unfairly treated.

STATE TAXES REDUCED

The state revenue tax has been reduced from $4,041,851.19 collected in 1920, to $3,252,324.78 in 1921; the Capitol building tax has been reduced from $538,913.19 in 1920, to $464,617.82 in 1921. The state interest tax was abolished for this biennium, saving $269,456.46—total reduction in property tax for state purposes, $1,133,278.54.

The people in November, 1920, voted a tax to pay pensions for the blind. This was a totally new tax, was not levied by past administrations, and is not in any wise chargeable to the present administration. It amounts to $929,235.64. Even if this tax were charged to the present administration (which could not justly be done) the tax collected by the State of Missouri has been reduced $204,-043.10.

In four years, the former administration increased taxes 44.8 per cent, or from $3,742,692 in 1917, to $5,307,946 in 1920. This property tax for state purposes increased $1,565,254 for 1920 over 1917.

In one year the present administration has reduced taxes $1,133,278 over 1920, or 23.4 per cent. We are back to substantially the 1917 figure.

Considering now the situation in Nodaway County, the tax for state purposes in 1920 was $46,-353.84, in 1921 $50,846.14, increase $4,492.30. In these figures the blind pension tax will not be considered because it was voted by the people, not the present administration. The Hyde administration will collect therefore for state purposes $4,492.30 more than the Gardner administration did in 1920.

Nodaway county will receive back from the state for the support of her public schools $53,456.20. In 1920 Nodaway county received from the Gardner administration for the support of her schools $41,-062.68. Thus Nodaway county receives from the state $12,393.52 more than she did in 1920. She pays $4,492.30 more in 1921 than she did in 1920. The balance in favor of Nodaway county is $7,901.-22 in 1921.

In 1920 Nodaway county paid in state revenue taxes $46,353.84 and received back $41,062.68, loss $5,291.16. In 1921 Nodaway county paid in state revenue taxes $50,846.14 and received back $53,-456.20, gain $2,610.06.

Nodaway county therefore changes a 1920 loss of $5,291.16 into a 1921 gain of $2,610.06, a total gain, $7,901.22.

THE CONSOLIDATION BILLS

Both the Republican and Democratic platforms in 1920 indorsed the budget system and the consolidation of departments of state government, the Democratic platform saying:

"We believe the entire business of the state should be put under a limited number of executive and administrative departments and require the strictest business efficiency and economy in the management of each, and the abolishment of all useless boards and commissions."

It was the object and purpose of the various bills passed by the legislature, for which the public press unstintingly eulogized them and which are held up by the Democratic office holders of the state and are now before the people for their decision.

If you believe that there were useless offices, boards and commissions, etc., as attested (1) by the Democratic platform, (2) by Governor Hyde's finding and (3) by a severe arraignment by a committee of the constitutional convention, and still later thoroughly discussed in an able article by M. E. Ford, of Maryville, Missouri, which appeared recently in the Democrat-Forum, if you believe these things do exist and that laws for their correction would today be in operation except for the concerted action of the Democratic office holders, who would have been separated from the public crib, then you will vote "Yes" on Propositions 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 19.

These laws, had they gone into effect, would have saved the people more than $550,000.00 per year. Not only this but it cost the state of Missouri to submit these propositions to the people over a half million dollars.

THE APPROPRIATIONS

The Democratic State Committee makes the charge that the Hyde Administration appropriated $30,254,916.11 for the first two years of this administration. The facts are that the legislature appropriated $20,417,997 for that period. In this sum there is included approximately $2,000,000 to meet deficiency bills that had been made under the Gardner Administration in excess of appropriations authorized by the legislature. The figures in the Democratic advertisement were doubtless compiled by that Democratic statistician in Jefferson City who boldly proclaimed: "It doesn't matter what the facts are; it's what you can make the people believe that counts."

SOME ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF THE HYDE ADMINISTRATION

The last Democratic Secretary of State paid 30c per pair for auto plates in 1920, when he had a bid of 20c per pair. Not only this but the firm from whom he purchased them at 30c per pair bought them from the same firm that had bid 20c per pair.

In 1921 the Republican Secretary of State bought the auto plates for 15c per pair, thereby saving $70,000 to the people of the state at this time.

From August 1920 to August 1921 under Democratic Oil Inspector, 1,485,687 barrels were inspected.

From August 1921 to August 1922 under Republican Oil Inspector, 4,163,083 barrels had been inspected. Certainly the oil consumption had not increased to that extent.

The inspection fee was by the last legislature reduced from 6c a barrel to 1 1-2c per barrel and yet $31,000.00 more fees were collected in the first year of the Republican inspection than under the last year of Democratic inspection. Had the rate remained the same under the Republican Inspector that it was under the Democratic Inspector, the state would have collected $217,589.80 more money in the first year of Republican Administration than in the last year of the Democratic administration.

The support of the Governor's mansion for the first year of Gardner's administration was $15,000. The first year of the Hyde administration it was $7,000.

When Governor Hyde went into office he found the Highway Department housed in a building in Jefferson City owned by Governor Gardner and others, for which the state was paying a rental of $706.00 per month. There was abundant room in the capitol building, to which the department was afterwards removed thus saving to the state $706.00 per month.

Thousands of dollars were collected annually in the state warehouse department and distributed among favored employes increasing their salaries beyond that fixed by law and none of this money passed to the state treasury as the law directed.

For the benefit of a favored printing concern the last Democratic Secretary of State purchased 3 million envelopes with his card thereon, after he had been defeated at the polls.

The basement of the capitol is today filled with old and obsolete copies of the statues and all kinds of printed books and pamphlets produced far in excess of the amount reqnired only to fatten the coffers of the printing concern, which was a close ally of the Democratic administration.

The last legislature appropriated $147,000.00 to pay bills owing and unpaid by the 6 eleemosynary institutions of the state. In other words, these 6 institutions had run $147,000.00 behind in the two years preceding. At this time—at the end of two years of the Republican Administration, there is a balance in the treasury to the credit of these 6 institutions in the sum of $225,000.00, a total difference to the credit of the Republican administration in the handling of these institutions alone of $372,-000.00.

SOME PRESS COMMENTS

After the adjournment of the 1921 legislature the press of the state had this to say:

"We think it a safe assertion that there has not been a session of the state legislature in fifty years that has accomplished so much in the way of concrete legislation for the welfare of the state * * * * The majority has proven insofar as the legislation can prove that the people of the state made no mistake in putting the Republican party in power. We verily believe they have laid the foundation for a new era in this state."—Globe-Democrat (Ind.) March 19, 1921.

"No General Assembly within the past twenty years has accomplished a greater amount of legislation than this one."—Globe-Democrat (Ind.) March 20, 1921.

"The session of the Missouri Legislature just ended is the most notable in a generation. It took a broad view of its responsibilities. * * * * It picked out some of the more important problems in the state life and dealt with them intelligently. Its legislation inaugurates a constructive era for Missouri. * * * * Loyal citizens of Missouri without regard to party have reason for pride in this splendid record of accomplishment made by the legislature. It cannot be possible that they will permit the record to be imperiled by a referendum invoked for purely partisan purposes."—Kansas City Times (Ind.) March 21, 1921.

"It must be admitted that there are an unusual number of acts that make for substantial progress in this state. It must be admitted that the Republicans have kept faith and fulfilled the pledges they made to the people."—Post-Dispatch (Ind. Dem.) March 22, 1921.

And yet practically all the important constructive legislation passed by the session thus complimented is held up by the Democratic office holders of the state and now they ask you to put your stamp of approval on their conduct by voting against the measures.

AUTUMN DAYS INDIAN SUMMER

GEORGE REEDER OF WEATHER SERVICE ANSWERS INQUIRY

HISTORY IS UNCERTAIN

Pilgrims May Have Invented Phrase Because America Was Indians' Land

Dear Professor Reeder:

An argument has started about Indian Summer. "A" says there is no such weather as Indian Summer. "B" says it is a well recognized type and is peculiar to Missouri. Please write a short article on the subject.

Sincerely,

A. S.

By George Reeder.

(Director, Missouri Weather Service)

"Indian Summer" is a term applied to a certain phase of our autumn weather. It is characterized by a hazy condition of the atmosphere, mild temperature, and absence of rain. It largely is the associated feature of persistent high pressure waves, the first well developed types, following the more or less sluggish and weak air waves of summer.

In Missouri the so-called Indian Summer, as a rule, happens in October. It usually prevails from three to five days, but sometimes persists for ten days to two weeks. The phenomenon is not confined to Missouri, but occurs in nearly all parts of North America.

During the past 100 years much work has been done in the search bearing on the origin of the term, but without final success. Probably Albert Matthews (1901) and H. E. Ware (1916), Colonial Society of Massachusetts, have been the most thorough workers. Some investigators have concluded that there is no such thing as "Indian Summer," and that the term has no deeper meaning than that our weather in autumn is pleasant. The writer is inclined to this opinion.

Nevertheless, the peculiar state of the weather in the autumn, or fall, has excited the poetic fancy as well as the philosophic inquiry of many minds. Thoreau (1850) said, after an outing on a so-called Indian Summer day, "Here has been such a day as I think Italy never sees." Dr. D. Drake's description (1815) of the New England Indian Summer, may be fittingly applied to Missouri: "the atmosphere is, for the most part, dry, serene, and smoky ,through which the sun and moon exhibit in the morning and evening a face of darkened crimson. The verdure of the forests fades away, or passes into countless varieties of brown, red and yellow."

The term, however, was in use long before this. We find it in the Journal of Major Ebenezer Denny, while at Le Boeuf, near the present city of Erie, under date of October 13, 1794. The earliest known instance of the term "Indian Summer" appears in papers by M. St. John de Crevecoeur, Traduites de l'Anglois, Paris, 1787. In a letter dated, "Germanflats," 17 janvier, 1778 ("Germanflats" is the present Herkimer, N. Y.) he says, in his description of the autumn weather of New York, "sometimes the rain is followed by an interval of calm and warmth which is called Indian Summer (l'Eete Sauveage); its characteristics are tranquil atmosphere and general smokiness."

In England and Europe there are spells of fine weather in the autumn, certain days being named for the saints; and "Indian Summer" in America seems to be parallel to the terms (current or formerly in use) "Altweibersommer" of Germany; "L'ete de Saint Denis" of France; "L'esta de Santa Teresa" of Spain, and "Saint Martin's Summer, and "Allhallown Summer' of England.

In the first part of Henry IV, i, ii, 178, Prince Hal, taking leave of Falstaff, says, "Farewell, thou latter spring, farewell, Allhallown summer."

And again in the first part of Henry VI, i, ii, 131—

Owing to the relatively short time the term has been in use, it seems to be rather odd that it cannot, or has not, been traced to its origin. It is conceivable that our earliest immigrants, instead of giving some saint's name to this pleasant phase of the weather, called it Indian Summer, because America was the Indian's country.

One of our business men friends was feeling badly and went to the family doctor. "You have nervous prostration" said the medical man "and the thing for you to do is to buy a ticket to California." "But I can't leave my business" exclaimed our friend. "Not necessary" replied doc. "Just give the ticket to your wife."

EXTENSION DEBATING BY THE UNIVERSITY

Planning An Innovation In Debating Circles—Teams To Cities

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 2—The Debating Board of the University of Missouri is planning an innovation in debating circles—extension debating—a plan whereby current subjects will be debated by University men and women in the various towns and cities of the state. The plan is original here and will receive its first trial in November when two University debaters will go to Sedalia and debate a current subject at the Sedalia High School.

The plan is to send two debaters to any high school, to any civic club or similar organization in any town in the state. These debaters will debate before the club, one taking the affirmative and the other the negative debating squad coach who will also accompany the debaters.

Each debater will be allowed fifteen minutes with a seven minute rebuttal and a three minute rejoiner. There will be no decision and the audience will be allowed to ask either debater any questions desired. The expense of the debaters must be borne by the organization asking for the debate, actual traveling expense of the two debaters and the coach being all required.

The value of the plan, in addition to its value in experience for the University debaters, will be that it will give clubs and high schools an opportunity to hear both sides of any current question debated by skilled, trained debaters. The entire debating squad studies current questions and holds try-outs for places on the team. There will be women debaters as well as men available for these assignments which are expected to prove popular over the state.

Handling Difficult Children.

From The Outlook.

Parents, you say that children are "so difficult these days." Why are they difficult? Is it not perhaps chiefly your own fault? Are you giving them a square deal? Have you learned to be loving but not indulgent? Have you learned to be inexorably firm but not harsh? Have you learned to give them the liberty that the child of today is rightfully coming into without failing to demand a concomitant sense of responsibility? Have you learned to listen to their confidences without tirades of criticism? Have you learned to be a pal without insisting upon being the boss pal? How much, in short, have you tried to get in touch with these "difficult modern children?"

6TH ANNUAL RED CROSS ROLL CALL NOV. 11-DEC. 1

Every Man, Woman and Child Should Become a Member by Payment of $1.00.

In regard to the Sixth Annual Red Cross Roll Call which will be opened soon, the officers in charge of the move, have given the following:

The Red Cross Roll Call which will be put on between November 11 and December 1, will be one of the great events of the Red Cross Chapter of Nodaway County this year and every American man, woman and child should become a member of the Red Cross by the payment of one dollar.

The Red Cross nationally and internationally, is the mother of all people everywhere that suffer from disaster and the Red Cross stands ready to serve at all times, but as Judge Payne, National Chairman says, "If we have no money to take care of the emergency when it comes the Red Cross will fail and if the national organization dies then the chapter fails," so that the members of the Nodaway County Red Cross are not only members of the local chapter but of the national organization. Everyone should deem it a privilege to belong to this great organization which do such a great mission to a world in distress.

This year members are wanted that see the bigness and goodness of this organization and we believe that every one can see it without argument so when the solicitor asks you to join the Red Cross, just do it without any argument, believing that in doing so you are helping the greatest emergency relief work that the world has ever seen.

Everyone may become a member upon payment of one dollar, and every member of the family should want to join.

Rev. Ben Gillispie to Leave

(From Hopkins Journal)

It will be disappointing news to many in Hopkins and vicinity to learn that Rev. Ben Gillispie has about decided to leave Hopkins. He has finished his three years work as pastor of the Christian church here and is deservedly popular both with his congregation and the people of the community in general, not only being an able minister but a perfect gentleman in every way and during his stay here both he and his wife have won for themselves many friends.

He is leaving the church in better shape both spiritually and in point of members than when he came and can go feeling that his work in Hopkins has not been in vain. He does not expect to leave Missouri and many are hoping that something will transpire that will caues him to remain in Hopkins as pastor of the church of his choice.

Box Social Postponed.

The box social at the Shell Grove school, which was announced for tomorrow night, has been indefinitely postponed. Hiland Thompson is the teacher.

MORAL REVIVAL WORLD'S NEED

TEACHINGS OF CHRIST MUST GUIDE CHRISTIANITY TO LIVE

SAYS VISCOUNT ASTOR

Intoxicants, Position of Women, Capital and Labor All New Elements

By David M. Church.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, Nov. 1.—World codes must be revived in conformity with the teachings of Christ, according to Viscount Astor, if Christianity is not to become a failure.

The world is disturbed by new points of view regarding the position of women, class distinction, the movement against alcoholism, the relations of capital and labor, the brotherhood of man. Hosts of citizens are challenging these new advances, the Viscount said.

America is now in the midst of a great moral struggle that may influence the trend of Christianity, the Viscount said. America gave up intoxicants, but as with many a man who has done likewise, the American people are experiencing a moral struggle as to whether or not they are able to carry out their resolution. The cause of Christianity must be affected one way or another by the result of this struggle.

France is a drawback to the progression of Christianity, the Viscount indicated.

"France," he says, "seems often very materialistic. Women's outlook, which is usually more moral and spiritual than man's, has but little influence on French national policy.

"Parisian life exemplifies too closely the saying: 'Eat, drink and be merry, for to-morrow we die.'

"On the whole French opinion, even in the provinces, considers man to be a sensual animal, and expects the Government to make unchastity as safe for him as possible."

Throughout the world, as in France, temperance and chastity are challenged, the Viscount said, but Christianity has not failed.

"What the world needs now is fearless leadership and honest thinking. Democracy and Christianity have not faded where and when they have been properly tried. Christianity has not failed. It cannot have failed, because it has not been really tried, fully applied and understood.

"Democracy is not wrong, because we are not yet able or willing to apply the ideas of the brotherhood of man.

"There are indications of an awakening or resurrection from maternalism, selfishness, self-indulgence and thoughtlessness, the awakening of our common conscience on the traffic in women and children, on the the deception of alcohol, on slums and war.

"All these are hopeful signs that we are striving to arise out of mental satisfaction and out of mere selfish physical enjoyment and are indications of vitality and progress."

$700,000 SPENT BY RED CROSS IN SOUTHWESTERN DIVISION IN A YEAR

Money Was Used in Relief and Rehabilitation Following Disasters in the District.

During the fiscal year 1921-22, ending June 30th, the Southwestern Division, American Red Cross expended $730,936.79 in disaster relief. Part of this came from the National Red Cross funds secured from membership, part from chapters and parts from individual contributions. This money was expended in disasters in various parts of the division, especially in the flood areas along the west bank of the Mississippi, in Missouri and Arkansas, in Texas, around Fort Worth, and in the Rio Grande Valley, at Burlington, Kan., and at Pueblo, Colo.

The greatest amount of time and effort in any of these disasters went into the rehabilitation of Pueblo and of the district covered by the Rio Grande Valley flood of last June, according to a report from the Southwestern Division, American Red Cross, in St. Louis. Fifteen hundred and ten families were affected by that flood.

The manner in which the Red Cross undertakes these disasters depends upon the conditions to be met. In some cases the local chapters and citizens' committees take charge and the division office goes in an advisory capacity. In others the situation is reversed, and in still others the work is handled jointly by the Red Cross and the citizens.

Relief work in the Rio Grande Valley flood, which was the last disaster of real importance in the division, has been practically closed and the auditing committee, as well as the advisory committee, with the Red Cross director, Henry M. Baker, are compiling their reports, to be submitted to the citizens and to the division. The wide area affected in this disaster has caused the work to be continued longer than would have been necessary, it is believed, but that it has been thoroughly done and has created friendship for the Red Cross among the citizens of the section is evidenced by the letters received at the division office.

The Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Association of Little Rock, Ark., both have thriving life saving classes which were started during the summer by the director of life saving of the Southwestern Division, American Red Cross.

MISSOURI JUNIOR RED CROSSERS GIVE CHILD SUNDAY CLOTHES

The Junior Red Cross members of Harrisonville, Mo., are very proud of the fact that they have enabled a little girl to go to Sunday School once more. The child had stayed at home for lack of proper clothes and the Juniors found it out and used some surplus funds which they had earned at a bazaar, to purchase her the outfit.

This little girl now is the proud owner of a pink organdie dress, a pink ribbon, a blue gingham dress, hose and underwear. The gingham dress was made by one of the Juniors.

The children are enthusiastic over home work and tell the secretary that if ever she needs more help to "just whistle" and they will be right there.

TWELVE-YEAR-OLD GIRL WINS RED CROSS LIFE SAVING CERTIFICATE

Ruth Elberfeld, 12 years old, daughter of "Kid" Elberfeld, manager of the Little Rock (Ark.) Baseball Club, has just received a certificate in the Red Cross Life Saving Course, which is usually issued only to adults. Ruth took the course in a class of girls, but her work was so far ahead of her age that she finally was put in the adult class. One of the extraordinary feats in the course was the bringing in of a 160-pound man through the water for a distance of 50 yards, towing him and handling him in four different ways, according to the requirements of the course.

The call is answered, and the tribes gather at Wonderland park, Baltimore, for the annual convention and encampment. This gypsy woman, more than a hundred years old, has answered the annual call for many years, and ever with the faithful tobacco pipe.

R. E. WILSON CONFESSES ATTACK OF ROSALIE SHANTY

Ex-Convict Says He Had Been Drinking Moonshine—Is Married Man, With Small Child

Muskeegon, Mich., Nov. 2—(Copyright by International News Service.) Raymond E. Wilson, of Grand Rapids, Mich., confessed to the attack upon Rosalie Shanty, 12 year old missing girl, since Sunday, to assistant prosecuting attorney Glen Dunn shortly before daybreak today.

The confession came after an all night gruelling and was made before Sheriff William O. Matthews and the prosecuting authorities.

Wilson is a former convict, a husband of a sixteen year old girl and father of an infant baby. With a cigarette in his mouth he related the sordid details of the attack.

"I'd been drinking moonshine," he said, "But I don't know what made me do it. I just lost control of myself." Wilson is over six foot tall and weighs 170 pounds.

Physicians attending Miss Shanty announce that her mind is gradually returning to normal. They think she will live.

Muskeegon, Mich., Nov. 2—The wheels of justice functioned quickly here after Raymond Eugene Watson, accused of abduction of Rosalie Shanty was brought before Circuit Judge Vandervert to kidnapping and abduction with intent to rape.

The judge accepted the plea and announced that he would make his ruling at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The excited populace crowded the courtroom and several utterings of violence were rumored.

SENT BACK TO SMYRNA

Petros Rahlis, seventeen, lived in Smyrna until the Turks captured it. He saw the killing by the Turks of three younger brothers; he saw his sister carried off by the Turkish soldiers; his mother and father were torn from him and he believes killed later, and as his captors were about to thrust him into a bag to be drowned he escaped and reached a quay under the protection of sailors from an American torpedo boat destroyer. He managed to smuggle himself on board the steamship Asia. On arrival at New York he was turned over to the immigration authorities and ordered deported. This means back to Smyrna.

MILLIONS OF THE SPECIAL DELIVERY STAMPS ARE USED.

Washington, Oct. 31.—During the last year every man in the United States sent one special delivery letter and every other man received a reply, or, in the event the ladies are the greatest users of the stamp, every woman sent one letter and every other woman received one in reply, according to figures just compiled at the Post Office Department.

The general belief that these rush letters are associated with summer time, the "open season for spooners," was given a rude jolt by the figures which disclosed that more specials are sent in the last quarter of the year than during any other period, indicating, probably that the average citizen ignores the "mail early" plea and then spends ten cents to get his Christmas package rushed.

Reports from southern cities declare that the negro is the most extensive user of the rectangular stamp, some of them putting one on each letter they send.

The number of special delivery stamps sold during the last year totalled 79,992,980. Total receipts from the sale of the stamps were $7,499,298, averaging more than half a million dollars a month.

BE RID OF THAT ACHE.

If you are a sufferer with bame back backache, dizziness, nervousness and kidney disorders, why don't you try the remedy that your own neighbors recommend? Ask your neighbor.

Mrs. Ruth Cornett, 714 N. Buchanan St., Maryville, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been in our medicine cabinet for a good many years. I used them when my kidneys were not acting properly. At that time sharp pains caught me in the small of my back and left me in a lame and miserable condition. I only used a few of Doan's Kidney Pills for this bad attack and they promptly relieved me. I used Doan's occasionally when I do not feel right. They regulate my kidneys and remove the pains and aches. I can recommend Doan's to anyone."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Cornett had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Work of Leaf-Cutting Bee.

The leaf-cutting bee drills in a sand bank a hole ten inches deep and half an inch in diameter and divides it into about a dozen compartments or cells. Each cell is composed of pieces of leaf cut into proper shapes and carefully fitted together. Rose leaves and sweet pea leaves are among the favorites of the bees. The cutting is done with the jaws, while the six legs hold the leaf in position and enable the insect to turn itself about with the precision of a pair of compasses. Some of the cut pieces are perfect circles, others are oblong figures of varying proportions. Having cut out the segment of leaf, an operation requiring about twenty seconds, the bee carries it to the sand bank and then returns for more materials. When a piece has been nearly cut off, the bee, in order to prevent tearing, poises itself in the air with its wings and completes the operation with a clean cut.

FACTS ABOUT FALL PLOWING

Under Certain Conditions the Practice Is Profitable.

Several reasons recommend fall plowing to the experienced farmer and on a great many farms it is desirable to plow at least part of the corn ground in the fall. While fall plowing is not to be recommended on land that is subject to washing, it is however, advantageous on most of the level prairie lands and gently rolling areas, according to P. E. Schowengerdt, soils extension specialist of the Missouri College of Agriculture.

There are several advantages to fall plowing. It gives a better distribution of farm work, relieving the spring rush. Soils that are inclined to be wet and cold will warm up and be ready for working earlier in the spring if fall plowed. Where sod coarse litter or a heavy growth of vegetation is to be turned under the material will partially decompose during the winter, thus making it possible to prepare a better seed bed in the spring. Fall plowing also helps destroy certain insects. Soils that are heavy and inclined to be cloddy will often improve in tilth with fall plowing.

Where it is desired to deepen the seed bed slightly by plowing somewhat deeper than usual fall plowing will allow the weathering of any new sub-soil that may be turned up.

Fall plowed land should be left rough in practically all cases. It is not desirable to disk or harrow it down until spring because this would tend to make it pack or run together too much.

The Farmer's Prayer

(The following, known as "The Farmer's Prayer" all over the Middle West, originated in Garden county, Nebraska.)

Lord, I am only a farmer. Thou knowest that when wheat was $2 per bushel and I had flour and sugar in the house and cake and pie every time I wanted it, I was not satisfied and voted for a change.

Thou knowest that I wore a Harding badge and was faithful in all things to the G. O. P.

Even so Thou knowest that I believed in the dawn of the new day and that wool would advance in price, that I would get $3 for wheat and 20 cents for my pork.

Lord, two years have gone by never to return and I am too poor to buy the necessary Rockefeller for my Henry; still I wear a Harding badge, but it's on the seat of my overalls.

O, Lord, I am thankful for one thing that Harding has been able to make jackrabbits taste good in the summer time. I pray thee that Thou wilt keep them replenished so that I shall not want.

I am glad, O Lord, that Thou hast prospered the railroads and that they have been able to keep up their freight rates when my corn would not pay the expenses of gathering, and I pray Thee that Thou wilt continue to uphold Mellon that he may be able to collect for years interest on the funds of his own bank account for it is a righteous course.

Teach me to pray: Our Father who are in Washington, Harding be his name; his kingdom come, his will be done even to beating the soldiers out out of a bonus. Give us each day our daily corn bread, that Wilson tried to make us eat for two years and Harding had us eating in three months, and lead us not in temptation to vote for democratic president, for Harding got all the power and Mellon all the money, Rockefellow all the oil and me the patched trousers for ever and ever. WRITES ABOUT THE BUDGET PLAN or who think they have a lot of influence, with the General Assembly do not want this plan adopted. A man who can control legislation goes to the member who wants a certain bill passed and proposes to help him if the member will support a certain appropriation. Or, if the member wants an appropriation then he is offered help with the appropriation if the member will support a certain measure.

In other words the man of influence buys what he wants with the states money. Anything is cheap, no matter what the price, so long as it is being paid for with the money of the people. This is "logrolling" and leads to "pork barrel" legislation and always the people pay the freight.

But if the budget plan is made effective there is not much chance for logrolling and it is very difficult to get "pork" and not get caught. Hence the very bitter fight that was made. Of course the plea was made that it was depriving the Legislature of power and that the Legislature was the body that represented the peole. It is wonderful how interested in the dear people some men become when their right to loot them is being taken away.

Of course many of those who opposed the budget plan were honest and had the best interests of the people at heart and some who were actuated by motives less unselfish were not really aware of the fact. Every one is inclined to see things as he wants them to be. It is so easy to convince us that we aught to have what we want. But a Governor who must come out in the open and say how much money he needs to run the state and what the necessities of the state are, is going to devise as many ways for saving money as possible in order that his demands may be as small as the necessities will allow. If a real, effective, and workable plan can be adopted it will mean a great saving to the people and, I hope, will lead to the abolition of a lot of these political jobs that exist solely for the benifit of those who hold them.

The most important task before this convention is to assist in reducing the present heavy burden of taxation. The only way to do that is to reduce the expenses of the state. If the money is spent is must be collected from somewhere. That means taxation. The members of the Legislature may be interested in saving the money of the people but they can not devise the ways and means in the short time they are in session. A committee of the Legislature will hold hearings but no one appears before the committee except those who want the money. No one appears on behalf of the people who must furnish teh money. The ways of saving the money must be devised by those who are on the job all the time and who are spending the money and must be responsible.

The budget plan is no patent panacea. It will not work itself. It is simply a device that, in proper hands, used in the right way, will get the desired results. Unless it is used, and used in the right way, it will accomplish nothing. But if used and used in the right way by a man who is really capable; the saving to the state will be enormous.

M. E. Ford.

STRESS SILENT LEADING IN SUPERINTENDANTS REPORT

Somerville Mentions Several Things in November Bulletin to Schools of the County

In the November bulletin which is sent out each month from the office of Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools to the different schools of the county several items of interest are discussed .

The most important of these is silent reading. In the schools oral reading is stressed regardless of the fact that students of the upper grades should be given exercises in silent reading. Mr. Somerville mentions the fact that adults who read extensively read mostly in the silent manner and that the students of the upper grades shold have exercises in that manner of reading.

An outline of silent reading compiled by Miss Dora Smith of the State Teachers College is printed in the bulletin and several references are given.

Mr. Somerville also compliments the teachers of the various schools in the county for the work which they did for the Nodaway County School Day. He also speaks of the condition of the various schools in regard to ventilation, light, heating and hot lunches.

D. E. Hotchkin went to Kansas City this morning on a business trip.

Mother To-Be!

Do You Realize this Fact?

AN eminent physician has shown why there is so much useless suffering on the part of many expectant mothers, for months before baby comes, as well as when baby actually arrives. This same great doctor found the way to avoid much of this suffering. Mother, your baby's nerves, its whole structure should be free from any influence caused by your months of useless misery and pain. You yourself can be free from much of it. Here is a little message to all expectant mothers:

Mrs. Ida Milton, 108 N. Tremont St., Kansas, Ill., says: "I am forced to say something in regard to your wonderful 'Mother's Friend.' Just one application gave me such relief I could hardly realize I was in pregnancy. Before I used it I was suffering with pains all over, and today, I am able to do my house-work with all ease and without pain."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally, and enables the muscles, nerves and tissues to relax and readjust themselves with the growing changes during pregnancy, and at child-birth. It should be used for some time before baby comes—the sooner the better.

"Mother's Friend" contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. For three generations "Mother's Friend" has relieved expectant mothers of much useless suffering. Mother! you must avoid mere greases and useless substitutes. Begin using "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold at drug stores—everywhere.
